Center for American Progress - Climate Progress by Lesley Russell, Senior Fellow and Ellen-Marie Whelan, Associate Director of Health Policy and Senior Health Policy June 16, 2010

Rep. Jan Schakowsky, D-Ill mentioned the Center's BP OSHA story during Thursday's hearing on the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill.

"A report published by the Center for Public Integrity found that, between June 2007 and February 2010, B.P. received total of 862 citations from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. Of those, a staggering 760 were classified as being egregious and willful, compared with 8 at the two oil companies tied for second place. Inexcusably, this pattern of behavior continued in the spill's aftermath."

Franken's questions is directed to Steve Flynn, BP's vice president of health, safety, security and environment:
Sen. Al Franken: "...The Center for Public Integrity recently published a report noting that B.P. is responsible for 760 of the 761 egregious and willful -- that's what they're called -- OSHA violations over the past three years. This is post-Texas City, of course, when you were going to change your culture of safety."

"That's a pretty hard statistic to believe. Do you have any comment on that?"
